Asus Android 11 updateRyan-Thomas Shaw / Android AuthorityAsus was surprisingly fast with updating its flagship Zenfone 6 smartphone with Android 10, releasing the update just two months after the OS made its debut. It was almost as fast with Android 11, shipping out the first stable update at the end of December Unfortunately, Asus wasn't as fast when it came to updating its gaming-centric ROG Phone 2. The update was rolled out back in March, six months after Android 10 made its debut. First stable Android 11 release: December 29, 2020 September 15, 2020: According to a post on Asus' community forum, the company is now rolling out Android 11 beta to Zenfone 6 owners who have registered for the beta program. The update comes in at around 1.3GB. It's interesting that Asus' 2019 flagship got the update before its successor — the Zenfone 7 series. To sign up, go to Settings > System > System update and tap on the gear icon in the top-right corner. Then select the "Enroll in the Beta Test Program" option and follow on-screen instructions. October 14, 2020: XDA-Developers reports that Asus has started rolling out the first beta update to Zenfone 7 Pro owners who are part of the testing program. The size of the update is around 1GB.December 29, 2020: Asus is now rolling out the stable version of Android 11 to the Zenfone 6. The update is only available in Taiwan for now, but it should reach other markets soon. March 25, 2021: XDA-Developers reports that Asus has released the stable version of Android 11 for the Zenfone 7 and 7 Pro. However, the update is only available in Taiwan for now.April 9, 2021: The Android 11 update for the Zenfone 7 series is now rolling out globally, XDA-Developers reports.July 21, 2021: The Asus ROG Phone 3 has finally received its Android 11 update, though you'll have to download and flash it manually, per Android 11 update for the Zenfone 7 series is now rolling out globally, XDA-Developers reports.July 21, 2021: The Asus ROG Phone 3 has finally received its Android 11 update, though you'll have to download and flash it manually, per Android 11 update for the Zenfone 7 series is now rolling out globally. received its Android 11 update, per XDA-Developers. Google Android 11 updateDavid Imel / Android AuthorityAs expected, Google's Pixel phones are among the first ones to get the latest version of Android. The company started rolling out the update on day one as usual, but unlike with Android 10, not all Pixel phones will get it — learn more below. September 8, 2020: Google is rolling out Android 11 to all of its Pixel phones, except for the original Pixel and Pixel phones in India. The rollout comes after Google initially delayed the update in India by a week - learn more here. LG Android 11 updateBased on the company's track record, the first LG phones should have received Android 11 in December. But that didn't happen, as LG took a bit more time than expected. The first update was released at the end of January - more details below.Keep in mind that the company generally releases software updates in its home country of South Korea first, before expanding them to other markets. First stable Android 11 release: January 30, 2021 January 6, 2021: LG has revealed its Android 11 update schedule for the first quarter, which only includes one phone — the LG Velvet. Other high-end devices like the V60, G8X ThinO, and Wing will have to wait until at least the second guarter to get the update for an LG device is here. It looks like the company has released the update for the LG Velvet in South Korea. We expect it to reach other markets soon, though, March 10, 2021; LG Germany has provided a roadmap for Android 11 updates. The LG Velvet 5G will get the update in April, while the LTE variant is expected to receive it sometime in Q3. The G8X and G8S won't get their new software until the second and third quarters, while the Wing, the budget K42, and the K52 will get it in the last three months of the year. Keep in mind that this roadmap is specific for Germany, so you may get the update a bit sooner or later depending on your location. For example, the Velvet already received the stable Android 11 in South Korea back in January. April 9, 2021: Verizon has released the Android 11 update for the LG Velvet - learn more here. June 17, 2021: SlashGear claims that LG is rolling out Android 11 to the 4G version of the Velvet. The update is apparently only available in South Korea for now. December 13, 2021: The LG Wing is all caught up with its Android 11 update outside of South Korea, according to Android Central. Microsoft Android 11 updateDavid Imel / Android AuthorityWe never thought we'd actually see the day, but the Surface Duo finally has Android 11. Granted, it took a year and a half to arrive, but it's an update nonetheless. It brings screen recording, new device controls, one-time permissions, and more. Hopefully we'll see Android 12 arrive on the Surface Duo long before another 18 months have passed. First stable Android 11 release: January 25, 2022 Motorola Android 11 updates. However, it has already shipped out the first stable update to one of its phones, and more will be joining the list soon — see more info below. Keep in mind that Motorola has a habit of first releasing updates for a number of its phones in Brazil, before rolling them out in other regions. With that in mind, you may have to wait for an additional month or so for an update after it's released if you're from the US or Europe.
